Noy won't control pork

GMA-approved 2010 budget ties hands of successor

By Christine V. Espinosa
and Philip C. Tabasa

THE NEXT PRESIDENT will no longer enjoy the power of the pork that his predecessor did by virtue of a key provision inserted into the General Appropriations Act of 2010, a development that could help determine the leadership and alignments in the incoming 15th Congress.

The hands of prospective president-elect Benigno "Noy" Aquino III will be tied by Section 67 of the law, which calls for a "prohibition against impeachment of appropriations," Atty. Rep. Edol Luyon of Iloilo-Kampiti-3 (FI) said yesterday.

The provision prevents the president from withdrawing the release of a budget allocation without the approval of both the Senate and the House of Representatives by a simple majority of the quorum.

Luyon, vice chair of the powerful House appropriations committee, said he introduced the provision during the 2009 budget deliberations to "protect the appropriations" approved by Congress.

The pork, however, formally known as the Priority Development

Comelec on 'koala bears': Stop peddling lies

By Kristine L. Alava, TJ Burgoine and Marissa Borsadora

THE MESSAGE OF THE COMMISSION ON Elections to the so-called "koala bear" and its other critics of the May 10 elections: Stop peddling lies.

The Comelec said they were only out to discredit the country's first automated national elections.

Commissioner Gregorio Larranabal said the critics had been proven wrong by the generally successful balloting.

All of their statements have been disproved. Yet they continue to peddle lies. You have to stop already. Enough is enough. You have to realize where to stop," Larranabal said in a press briefing yesterday.

Larranabal dismissed a suggestion by the COMELEC-AIG

Locsin loses it in House over his 'baby'

By Leticia B. Salaverria

ELECTION AUTOMATION WAS his baby—and except that he didn't expect it would turn into "Noy's baby."

Minority Rep. Theodore Locsin lost his temper and cursed during a hearing at the House of Representatives yesterday, infuriated with Senate-backed officials' explanations on why the election results transmitted by the voting machines had different time stamps that did not reflect the actual opening and closing times of the polls.

"You sons of bitches! You had us standing here guaranteeing to the public and to the world that even if there was corruption, we would be able to trace it," Locsin said.

"We never said that there would not be corruption, but you said that we could trace it, and now you tell me, that at 10 in the evening you [referring to Locsin] could do it and we would never know," he said.

Several hours, mostly lawmakers seeking reelection, brought up the issue of the time stamp during the hearing.

They noted that while the counting was supposed to begin at 7 a.m. and end at 7 p.m., pre-

Noy to take oath before lone SC dissenter

By Philip C. Tabasa

HE'S TAKING HIS OATH BEFORE a solo justice.

Liberal Party standard-bearer Sen. Benigno "Noy" Aquino III said last night that he was inclined to take his oath before

Supreme Court Associate Justice Caridad Caguioa-Morales since he is proclamaed the new President.

Speaking at a press conference, Aquino said he wanted to take his oath before Morales because she was the lone dissenter in the Supreme Court decision that allowed President Manolo's Arroyo to appoint Chief Justice Renato Corona.

Aquino also said that he has "put his foot down" and told his supporters to stop jockeying for positions in his administration and that, so far, he was not considering appointing anyone from the PDP.

Aquino also told reporters that he was meeting US Ambassador Harry H. Thomas today.

Poll collection fashioned out of tarpaulins, plastic, bullets

By Frank Chirba

BAGUIO CITY—IN ENVIRONMENTAL parlance, the country's first automated election was a way between plastic posters and tarpaulins. Gone were the paper and chrome cloth structures in most cities and towns.

This also became a colorful, yet technologically stable canvas.

Now that the polls have ended, a Baguio street has been divided in two: the discarded tarpaulins and posters into high locations.

Locally Alberto recently launched a line of recycled dresses at the Baguio-based International Eco-Fashion Fair, making tarpaulins into dresses.

Protesters dispersed; Thais still divided

BANGKOK—THAI AUTHORITIES did not order in Bangkok on Thursday but a massive police force a day after rioting and fire had raged toward security as government troops took control of a camp occupied by anti-government protesters.

The newly raised anti-riot police force dispersed the Red Shirts but did not disperse their own barricaded rally site in central Bangkok. Hundreds who had taken refuge in a temple were ordered not to police. The bodies were found inside.

"Democracy cannot be built on violence and anger," Ven. Manokong, one of the Red Shirts leaders and chair of the United Front for Democracy Against Dictatorship, said in a televised statement while in custody. He called on protesters to go home.

Young Thai heavy rioters overcame by about 1,000 members of the Red Shirts, some armed with guns, at the Red Shirts' camp.

Foreigners cry with 'Morong 43' in jail visit

By Ryan Bernaldo R. Nolasco

THERE WAS NOT A DRY EYE when foreigners and local citizens on Tuesday with some members of the "Morong 43" detained at Camp Baguio-Dava in Taguig-City. Twelve foreigners and members of Manila-based groups gathered around a table in the visiting area with 23 detained detainees. Later, they spoke with the male detainees in the hall way outside their cells.

The visitors brought messages of solidarity and were moved to tears as the detainees related about their feelings and experiences in detention.

Erap wary of Mr. Noted

By Christine N. Esguerra

SO WHEN ATTORNEY OF 'MR. Noted'?

The camp of ousted President Joseph Erapula is worried that he may lose the support of the May 13 national elections may be sought during the official campaign period that will last until next year.

Erapula's election lawyer, George Garcia, yesterday expressed concern that complaints might end up just being "noise," as happened when Erapula's 2010 campaign was shut out of the canvassing of votes for president and vice president in 2010.

The opposition labeled Erapula's "Mr. Noted" for using the word after every complaint or allegation of cheating was issued by supporters of actress Fernando, who is also the chairman of President Marcellino Arroyo's camp.

GMA ally

Erapula's camp was allied with the Arroyo.

"We hope the new rules will not allow a Mr. Noted," Garcia told the lawyer in a phone interview.

Congress—the House and the Senate—will convene on May 14 to discuss the rules for president and vice president in the May 13 elections. Both chambers will also consider their respective rules on canvassing at the time.

Erapula said the House rules simply call for a "Mr. Noted" and nothing in the Senate rules there means like about the validity to make an official speech. The House rules, on the other hand, are more open to the extent that they allow for the speaking of all kinds of words, he said.

"The rules of canvass will determine whether a new problem will be," Garcia said.

He, however, admitted, added that new political campaigners may be forced during the congressional canvass, when with Erapula's Arroyo 2010 presented to be the president.

He said a judgment of Erapula would affect the canvassing.

ERAPULA

GARCIA

"We know that if some, those who said to be against or certain politicians could end up being too silly. You know those things happen when there's a change in administration," he said.

No valid evidence

Garcia, however, admitted the Erapula camp had not yet come up with "substantial" evidence that would show Erapula cheating at the polls.

"I admit that our evidence is not yet that substantial," he said.

"You will have to distinguish what evidence you can use to question the canvass results," he added, explaining that what they had so far could be easily dismissed.

The canvassing of a national election did not necessarily help Erapula's cause, he said.

"The problem is his evidence is inconclusive. He should have more. He should identify the people he was in contact with," the lawyer said.

HOTEL FIRE AFTERMATH

QC engineer's dismissal upheld

By Jerome Abood

THE COURT OF APPEALS HAS affirmed a decision of The Office of the Commissioner of the Department of Transportation, specifically, its decision to dismiss a former QC engineer for administrative lapses in connection with the Maro Hotel fire in 2001 that left 14 people dead.

The court's April 12th decision found engineer Raymond D. Lefebvre, currently assigned to the technical assistance committee to the state's office, guilty of gross negligence and conduct prejudicial to the best interests of the service.

Lefebvre was the senior building inspection officer in the QC engineering department when the Maro Hotel fire broke out in 2001.

The appellate court dismissed Lefebvre's motion for summary judgment on the grounds that he had not established that the QC engineering department was not negligent in the Maro Hotel fire.

The appellate court also dismissed Lefebvre's motion for summary judgment on the grounds that he had not established that the QC engineering department was not negligent in the Maro Hotel fire.

of the Commissioner that position or not, greatly weighed in the performance of his official functions, thereby constituting the dismissal from the service," said the appellate court in a 13-page decision posted by division chief Associate Justice Rod Tyra.

According to the ruling, new Associate Justice, Madeline Poirier-Gauthier, QC, and Justice Poirier-Gauthier, QC, found that Lefebvre's dismissal was not justified as a matter of the QC engineering department's negligence in the Maro Hotel fire.

Justice Poirier-Gauthier found that Lefebvre's dismissal was not justified as a matter of the QC engineering department's negligence in the Maro Hotel fire.

PPCRV closes command center

By Terry Quinn

HUGGING SHUT DOWN ITS COMMAND CENTER for the Maro Hotel fire, the Public Protection Council for Responsible Voting (PPCRV) will be spending the next three weeks analyzing the poll results by mail, focusing first on about 40 percent of the polling precincts nationwide.

Call on June 1, PPCRV executive president, said the PPCRV's second election district area, but scheduled data analysis to the next three weeks. Volunteers will manually review printed copies of election returns (ERs) and consolidation results (Preliminary Results, 2011, 2012).

The PPCRV started testing down in operations at the State Capitol Building in March, primarily after closing down its command center which had been running for the last two weeks.

Validation

"In the next three weeks, we will start reviewing everything and find out what's going on. We will compare to the last day," he said.

The PPCRV's validation process consists of electronically reviewing all election returns, including those that are not in the state's database.

This operation is supported by the manual review process that continues in counting room from ballot to tabulate selected precincts for comparison with electronic results.

Cops must work their way up the ladder—PNP

By Joseph R. Uy

POLICEMEN WILL NOW HAVE TO LITERALLY work their way up the ladder.

Starting next year, the National Police Commission will have to run up a 30-story building in less than three minutes, according to new rules set out by Philippine National Police Director Gen. Jose Alvarez.

Alvarez announced yesterday that the PNP will be implementing, starting in July, the "10-story promotion test" as an "ad hoc" parameter to appointments and promotions.

He stressed that policemen occupying key positions in the PNP must possess extra physical capabilities to allow them to meet the demands of the job.

"Physical fitness is not about the waistline but the strength of the body," Alvarez said.

Police officers, beginning to become regional and district directors and chiefs of the divisions for improved police operations must be able to ascend a 10-story building in two minutes and 45 seconds. The provincial and city director aspirants, the hurdle is two minutes and 30 seconds.

The test has at least two iterations and 15 seconds for policemen setting up a 10-meter obstacle of police and non-police members of the police safety team against forces.

Alvarez made the announcement at a meeting yesterday with officers of the provincial and regional directorates, development, and personnel of the PNP regional, division and national support units.

Police and programs have been introduced by the PNP in the past to keep personnel in top-top shape. During his three-year term as PNP chief, Gen. Paulino Lacuna imposed a 24-inch waistline policy for all officers.

Alvarez said the motivation of the test was approved by the Commission for Human Resources and Doctrine Development.

The test will be supervised by fitness instructors and medical personnel from the PNP Health Service, he said.

Alvarez also said that all policemen are ordered to maintain the nationwide gun ban imposed by the Commission on Elections during the election period will undergo re-training and re-armament.

Alvarez said that 182 police personnel had returned after more than a year that was imposed beginning Jan. 15.

P500M in funds for evacuees missing

COTABATO CITY—At least P500 million in funds meant for thousands of residents who fled fighting in 2008 between government and separatist rebels in Maguindanao are missing and could not be accounted for.

Officials of the Autonomous Region in Muslim Mindanao (ARMM) are now demanding an accounting of how the funds were spent. It was President Macapagal-Arroyo who ordered the release of the funds for evacuees in Maguindanao.

Regional Development, ARMM executive secretary, said the funds were supposed to have been released in 2009 and were to come from collections from the tax-exempt value-added tax (vat).

No paper trails
Macapagal-Arroyo's ARMM official, Francisco Rada, said that in April and May 2009, he was with the Department of Social Welfare and Development (DSWD)—Rada's executive and Vice Governor—announced that the funds that were released through the DSWD office in Cotabato. "I had already been exhausted," Rada said.

Rada, ARMM social welfare secretary, said the announcement that the funds have been released was surprising because the DSWD-ARMM, which was leading the delivery of food and other supplies to evacuees, had not received anything. But a check of the records showed the office said that it had not received anything, said Rada.

No paper trail
Thousands of villages were driven out of their homes in 2008 because of fighting between government soldiers and members of the separatist Moro Islamic Liberation Front (MILF).

Rada said, regional director of the DSWD, he was to come on reports of the disappearance of the funds.

Rada said that some ARMM officials were wondering about how the funds were spent since they didn't see any documents on the release of the funds. Rada said that some ARMM officials were wondering about how the funds were spent since they didn't see any documents on the release of the funds.

Flying on donors
The UN AG for Peace also announced to provide food and funds for the construction and repair of at least 150 houses that were destroyed during the fighting.

Under the international humanitarian agency request to provide people with supplies to ensure villages by putting up a water system, Rada said that.

Macapagal said to the media of the military, which was the officials did not see any documents on the release of the funds.

ADD UP DUTY
Soldiers from both local and national governments and separatist rebels in Mindanao, soldiers, like those seen in conflict-ridden Zamboanga City, are also supposed to perform duties as security forces in civilian areas.

Actor's win in Bulacan means flood of diapers

QUEZON CITY—NOW that Bulacan has elected its first incumbent, the local government is expected to release a flood of funds for the relief of the poor.

Rada, a former provincial board member, announced plans to distribute free adult diapers to senior citizens and bedridden patients in April in a campaign to promote the sale of the first-born politician in 2004.

The actor was won by 200,000 votes against his closest rival in the last election, after almost being defeated in April by the Commission on Elections (Comelec).

Appeals court affirms Leviste conviction

By Jeremy Daling

THE COURT OF APPEALS HAS UPHOLD A Manila court ruling finding Jose Antonio Leviste, a former foreign governor, guilty of homicide in a family shooting a long time back, according to Philstar in Asia, in 2007.

The City of Manila reported Leviste's death from a bullet fired by his wife, Leviste claimed that Dr. Jose Abad had become "intentionally aggressive" and had attacked him without provocation.

The justice added P20,000 in P210,000 death indemnity and moral damages awarded by the lower court to Dr. Jose Abad.

The Supreme Court earlier rejected a petition from Leviste asking to be freed on bail while his case was on appeal.

After prosecution and that another charge against Leviste that the Manila court found Leviste guilty of homicide and gave him a sentence of six to 12 years in prison.

During an argument in their Manila case on Jan. 12, 2007, Leviste said Dr. Jose Abad was the aggressor, Leviste-the doctor's hospital said he was surrendered to the police, claiming he shot Dr. Jose Abad because the latter was dangerous about him.

The appellate court said it was not convinced of Leviste's defense that Dr. Jose Abad was about to shoot him. Based on the evidence established at the trial, Dr. Jose Abad had only shown his gun, but there was no evidence to show that he fired it, the court said.

Gangland

After three months of trial, Leviste still remains the aggressor, the prosecution also presented a forensic doctor who testified the gun found on Dr. Jose Abad's hand was probably stolen.

The appellate court also described in "baptism of blood" Leviste's claim that he employed reasonable means to resist Dr. Jose Abad's aggression.

The appellate court also rejected Leviste's claim and found of Raul (Dr. Jose Abad) proved that second-appellant was already the aggressor and not the defendant. As such, there was no longer any substantial aggression to speak of. Leviste as substantial aggression that has begun to lose sight, the one who is ready to self-defense has no right to kill or even to wound the former aggressor," the justice said.

The justice also cited forensic evidence showing that after being shot twice, Dr. Jose Abad again tried to raise his left arm to protect and defend himself from continuing further blows.

It is not true that Leviste was merely defending himself, the justice, not less, would have been enough to immobilize Dr. Jose Abad and prevent him from physically harming Leviste otherwise said.

Undoubtedly, the second-appellant went beyond the call of self-protection when he proceeded to shoot twice and find injuries on Leviste. The means used by the second-appellant, the excessive and repeated firing of a pistol, were adopted by him not only to end Leviste's aggression but to cause the latter's death," the court said.

STATEMENT ON 2010 ELECTIONS

LONG LINES. Long queues – as long as four hours or more in many places – were seen throughout the day. These were due to the inconsistent implementation of voting procedures and not well thought out clustering of precincts. Fortunately, the long queues appeared to have had minimal effect on people's participation in the elections. Voter turnouts remained high, although lower than other election years, perhaps as a result of some people opting to go home after waiting in lines for some stretch of time.

CERTIFIED VOTERS LIST. The CVL still contained spurious names. There were also reports of voters who were not able to locate their names in the CVL or who were not able to determine their precinct assignments.

ELECTION VIOLENCE AND VOTE-BUYING. Though not directly related to the election automation program, various incidents of election-related violence, vote-buying, flying voters, and underage voting were reported in different parts of the country. There were also some cases of failure of elections in scattered localities in the Visayas and Mindanao due to non-delivery or mis-delivery of election items or due to local disturbances. As already stated, the long queues at voting centers may have also discouraged some voters from exercising their right to vote. These are matters of concern to all of us because disenfranchisement is a violation of a voter's rights and more progress must be made in the coming years to minimize these occurrences.

NO BALLOT SECRECY. There was little or no secrecy in the filing up of ballots and inserting of ballots in PCOS machines. The length of the ballot, the close proximity to voters lining up to receive the ballots, and the size of the "secrecy" folder, and the method of inserting ballots into the PCOS machine with pollwatchers standing beside voters did not lend itself to any confidentiality of a person's vote. This is an aspect which must be closely looked into and remedied in future elections.

WHERE WERE THE UV LAMPS? In the printing of ballots, the COMELEC announced that the wrong UV ink was used and that the UV lamps in the PCOS machines would have to be checked. In order to detect counterfeit ballots, COMELEC announced that it would instead purchase approximately P28 - P30 million worth of portable UV lamps for the BE to use. In spite of this, we have heard numerous reports of no UV lamps seen nor used at various voting centers.

WE URGE COMPLETION OF THE COUNTING. The pace of counting and canvassing has considerably slowed after the burst of speed seen in the first 24 to 48 hours after elections. Given that enough time has lapsed for all other remaining counts to have been completed and for election returns to have been picked up, it will be important for the public to receive a full report on this, especially as this may have material effect in tight races. It appears that thousands of PCOS machines have not yet transmitted their results for a variety of reasons. We recommend that a full report be given on the status of these machines and their results and that these areas be included in the Random Manual Audit.

DO NOT DESTROY CF CARDS OR DELETE DATA. Because of the replacement of CF cards one week before elections and the occurrence of some erroneously transmitted reports, we recommend that the COMELEC not destroy any of the recalled cards nor delete any of the erroneously transmitted reports from canvassing system laptops.

NAMFREL will continue to process the numerous incident reports it has received from all across the country and will run a compendium of its election return data against publicly available data for further analysis. In the meantime, we look forward to the successful conclusion of the canvassing process and proclamation. Many lessons have been learned from this exercise and it is our hope that these lessons will be processed to improve the system.

The 2010 Elections was a celebration of democracy by our people. The National Citizens' Movement for Free Elections commands all those who played a role in the administration and conduct of the May '10, 2010 elections, most especially the teachers who served as Boards of Election Inspectors and the voters who endured difficulties and inconveniences but nonetheless accepted the new automated system.

The most dramatic improvement in the elections was in the counting and tabulating of votes, which occurred at unprecedented speeds for Philippine elections. Early tabulations were available within hours of the polls' closing and significant numbers were reported by midnight of election day.

The second most dramatic change in the political scene came perhaps in the change of behavior of losing candidates. In prior elections, losing candidates rarely, if ever, conceded defeat. In this election, losing Presidential candidates quickly conceded their loss within 48 hours of elections, thereby reducing political tension and contributing to the public acceptance of results. This is a significant change in the Philippine political scene.

Nonetheless, we wish to state our concerns and recommendations on a number of matters in the spirit of constructive observation in the hope that steps will be taken to further improve the system:

Under Section 27 of RA 8369, a complete review of the Automated Election System needs to be undertaken and we feel this review should include the recalled and replaced CF cards and all reports submitted for canvass.

RANDOM MANUAL AUDITS (RMA) MUST BE COMPLETED AT THE SOONEST POSSIBLE TIME. The COMELEC must report to the public about the status of the audits and where they took place. Although NAMFREL was not an accredited citizens arm for the random manual audit in spite of the presence of two retired chairpersons from the country's two largest audit firms on its national council, NAMFREL witnessed initial random manual audits in Metro Manila, particularly in San Juan and Quezon City. Our main observations were that no other observers were present for the entire process, either from the accredited citizens arm or political parties. While minor differences were found in votes counted for some candidates between the machine and manual counts, it must be noted that in at least two instances, PCOS machine counts recorded more ballots counted than there were in the ballot box. The implementation of random manual audits remains one of the unfinished tasks of this election. The check of hash codes per machine against the original hash codes stored in Bangko Sentral Pilipinas also still needs to be completed. A full report of the audits for this election should be of help in identifying potential problem areas in the system.

THE AUTONOMOUS REGION OF MUSLIM MINDANAO CONTINUES TO PRESENT CHALLENGES TO THE ELECTORAL PROCESS. We had already pointed out the potential for problems and issues, starting with the voters lists which indicated large increases in numbers of registered voters from 2007 to 2010. (Note: COMELEC records indicated a 42% increase in ARMM and 83% increase in Lanao del Sur). Moreover, the area has had a history of vote-buying, election-related violence, flying and underage voters, and vote count manipulation. In this regard, we had earlier recommended that elections be held separately and in advance in ARMM using the AES system. This would have served as both a pilot test of the system as well as a means of minimizing any other election-related risks as all COMELEC resources and attention could have been brought to bear on the region. However, new legislation is required for this. The incoming Congress should seriously consider such an approach.

PUBLIC REPORT ON THE PERFORMANCE OF SMARTMATIC. In light of the failure of hundreds of PCOS machines on election day, the problem with the CF cards during the testing, the failure of thousands of PCOS machines to transmit election reports, and the slowdown in the Consolidation and Canvassing System (CCS) in the past few days, COMELEC should evaluate and release a report on whether its AES supplier has satisfied the terms of its contract.

COMELEC TO RENDER A REPORT ON THE EXPENSES INCURRED IN IMPLEMENTING THE AES. COMELEC is a public enterprise should render a report to the public on the various expense items incurred in running the elections. This is necessitated in light of the coming out of a COMELEC employee/insider denouncing irregularities in transactions of the poll body. How much of the P 16.5 billion total budget for the May 2010 elections was spent?

"It is better to light a candle than to curse the darkness."

Foreign contractors get death threats

By Jacaranta I. Andule

A GROUP OF FOREIGNERS WORKING ON THE PASIG RIVER rehabilitation project have reported that they have been receiving death threats in the form of text messages sent to their cell phones since last month.

The contractors from Belgium, Singapore and Thailand who work for Baguio River Line Development and Co., a marine and maritime construction, went to the General Angeles naval station of the Manila Water District to ask for help yesterday.

The company, which is involved in the dredging of Pasig River, has been working in partnership with the Department of Environment and Natural Resources since November 2008.

Belgian project manager Jeroen de Bover told reporters that they started receiving death threats in April, right after they terminated the contracts of some Filipino workers.

"The text messages we received stated that we were only foreign contractors who had no permanent working status so it would be easy for us to get killed in the Philip-pinas," De Bover said.

Most of the text messages, however, bore the same message—re warning that they should leave the country immediately.

De Bover said that the threats would not have alarmed them at all if the sender had made no mention of their families.

He added that one of the text messages he received said: "You're, your end is near. You got killed with your (old wife and all) foreigners in this. Your wife and (he) ready?"

Manila police investigation said they were conducting follow-up operations to identify the text message sender and apprehend them.

2 killed, 3 hurt as truck rams truck in QC

By Julie M. Rueda

A TRUCK DRIVER AND HIS HELPER who were running away from pursuing policemen died after the dump truck they were riding in collided with another truck in Quezon City before dawn yesterday.

The fatalities were identified as James Tron, 24, the driver of the truck, and his helper Jesus Lazo, 17. Both victims were residents of San Miguel Avenue in Ilog City.

Traffic Investigation SP4 Edgarito Tabano of the Quezon City Police District 5 said three other people were injured in the accident which happened at around 12:30 a.m. on Pasig River.

They were Greg Manno, 21; Lazoto Guzman, 17, and Rodolfo Arce, 14, residents of Pasig City who were riding in the back of Tron's truck.

Based on a police report, Tron, who was on his way to Rodriguez town in Pasig, filed in a Mitsubishi Adventure van driven by Maitino from at the corner of Commonwealth Avenue and Lino Road.

Instead of stopping, Tron drove away, prompting him to go to the nearest police station to report the accident, the report added.

Upon receiving Buñ's complaint, police officials immediately dispatched a mobile team to go after Tron.

Members of the mobile police team later spotted the dump truck with Tron behind the wheel being driven at top speed on Pasig River.

The police report said that when the truck reached the area of Group 9 in Marikina Heights, it rammed another dump truck which was parked on the road.

The impact caused Tron's truck to flip over, pinning Tron and Lazo inside the vehicle.

On the other hand, Rando, Guzman and Arce were flown off the road.

Spasmodics moved them to East Avenue Medical Center for first aid.

The driver of the other dump truck, Danilo Edano, 50, was not hurt.

25 houses destroyed as fire hits slum area

By Julie M. Rueda

A FIRE RAZED 25 HOUSES IN A slum community in Quezon City yesterday morning.

The blaze resulted in no deaths or injuries among residents as rescue investigators said they were still trying to determine what caused it.

At press time, the damage to property was still being assessed.

The fire started at around 30 a.m. in Park Heights, Marikina Heights.

It razed the first alone on the lane, destroying 25 houses in the area, according to the Bureau of Fire Protection (BFP).

The BFP added that the fire spread quickly as most of the houses in the area were built close to each other and made mostly of light materials. It was put out at around 11:15 a.m.

Meanwhile, 20 houses were also destroyed when a fire broke out on Wednesday evening in Baras, Marikina. Just like the fire in Park Heights, there were no deaths or injuries although the blaze razed the 20th alone before it was finally placed under control.

KIA MOTORS

Kia recognized and honored four of its authorized dealers in the Philippines, part of Kia Motors Corporation's (KMC) network of dealers around the world, with Platinum, Gold, Silver and Bronze awards as part of its Kia Dealer Excellence Program in 6-DIST which is the Korean car company's major dealer enhancement program.

The 6-DIST is a series of Kia dealer-focused activities online in concept for Ford's Blue Oval or Chrysler's Five Star awards, which recognize dealer achievement and initiatives in terms of competency, performance, and customer satisfaction. In the Philippines, the program is spearheaded by Columbia Automotive Corporation (CAC), Kia's authorized distributor in the Philippines.

The Philippines awardees, together with their trophies, were announced during a Dealer Awards Night held at The Grove pavilion recently. Kia Pasig (Pharmex, Inc.) received the coveted Platinum Dealer Certification. A distinction only bestowed to those that would meet Kia's Global Dealer Standards. On the other hand, Kia Davao City emerged away with the Gold award for their achievement in Kia's Act Smart Campaign. The Silver was won by Kia Cebu (Kia Motors) while Kia Makina got the Bronze award. The Act Smart Campaign was established by Kia Motors America Group in 2007 to support its dealers' internal and external facilities worldwide. The method is through the so-called 3S movement of setup, apt and service. In 2011, the method was enhanced, and standard evaluation was now completed. Dealers that have been evaluated using the new method automatically qualify to the program. Selection of awardees are based on the relative effort exerted by Kia dealers to improve its assessment point. Dealers that achieve a significant improvement from their previous standard evaluation ratings can become candidates for the award. These standard evaluation reports are uploaded to the Dealership Dealer Management System (DDMS) which are then reviewed and awarded by KMC's Expert Rating Group, International Business Division. Based on the number of dealers that have achieved the maximum perfect improvement and have qualified for the award, KMC then ranks the winners accordingly. In 2008, Autocore Inc. (Kia's dealer in HAWAII) has won the top position the Gold Award of Kia's Act Smart Campaign while Kia Pasig won the same award in 2009. The program was not implemented and subjected to review in 2007 and incorporated as part of the annual Kia Dealer Excellence Program.

Meanwhile, a total of six local dealers were recognized for their outstanding Sales and After-sales achievement. The Outstanding Sales Award is based on the total sales volume achieved by the dealership in 2011. The Outstanding After-sales Award on the other hand is based on a set of criteria that includes facilities and operations evaluation, target achievement in the areas of workshop and performance, and overall support for CAC-related programs and projects.

This award is overall winner for sales in Kia Cebu which also received recognition for supporting the sales in the Visayas region. Other dealers who were cited for their outstanding sales achievement in 2011 include Kia New Manila in Metro Manila, Kia Pangasinan in Luzon and Kia Iloilo in the Mindanao.

After-sales awards were conferred on Kia Pasig for Metro Manila, Kia Iloilo for Luzon, Kia Cebu for Visayas and Kia Cagayan de Oro for Mindanao.

South Korea says North torpedoed ship Int'l condemnation immediate, other from China which urges restraint

SEOUL—SOUTH KOREA ACCUSED THE RECLUSIVE North on Thursday of torpedoing one of its warships, heightening tension in the economically powerful region and testing the international position of China, Pyongyang's only major backer.

South Korea said it would take "firm" measures against its neighbor, which flatly responded that it was ready for war if forced or its allies imposed sanctions.

A report by investigators, including experts from the United States, Australia, Britain and Sweden, concluded that a North Korean submarine had fired the torpedo which sank the Cheonan on March 26, killing 46 sailors.

"There is no other plausible explanation," their report said.

Financial markets in Seoul showed little reaction to the widely anticipated findings of the report, but were watching nervously for any further escalation in tensions.

"The key is what kind of measures South Korea will take and how North Korea will react to them," said Choi Seung-ho, an analyst at SK Securities.

"If things become violent it will affect foreign investors, but for today the impact from the crash itself will be limited."

International condemnation was immediate, with the world's superpower of China, which analysts say is desperate to avoid any action that might destabilize its exclusive neighborhood and lead to a split over ties in the region.

A senior South Korean government official said probably that the attack appeared to have been in revenge for a daylight sea raid in which the ship South Korea's border line was fired in the waters of the Yellow Sea.

US Secretary General Ban Ki-moon called the sinking of the South Korean ship "unjustifiably and reprehensible."

Both the United States and Britain gave their backing to the findings, with the White House calling it an act of aggression that was another sign of the North's unacceptable behavior.

Japan rebuffed the assumption of war line disagreement talks by the regional powers and the South, and said Washington should be sure that such organizations attempt to bring Pyongyang to reason for a period, to stop its nuclear tests were considered.

Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesman Ma Zhaoxu said that as the United Nations prohibits its member states, and said Beijing would make its own assessment of the South Korean investigation.

South Korea President Lee Myung-bak will hold an emergency meeting of his National Security Council on Friday. The government has already said that it is in a state of readiness to take action, possibly more severe, against the North.

"We will be taking firm, resolute measures against the North," the government said, adding that it would be ready to take action to responding and other back as a responsible member of the international community. Lee was quoted by his office as telling Associated Press Minister Kevin Flood.

The report, issued in a relatively independent news outlet, and intelligence had shown that North Korean submarines were likely to operate near the coast of the island, with other vessels of other neighboring countries all nearby.

"The evidence points convincingly to the conclusion that the torpedo was fired by a North Korean submarine," it said.

The issue has plunged already icy relations between the two Korean neighbors into the freezing.

North Korea said the South Korean government was using the incident for political gain and to further undermine ties between the two Koreas, which have yet to sign a formal peace treaty to end the 1950-53 war.

"Our army and people will promptly react to any provocation and retaliation and to any 'provocation' inflicted upon our state interests with various forms of tough measures including an all-out war," it said.

The report, which was the powerful National Defense Commission as being in a typically hostile environment.

Official NYC bomb suspect looked at other targets

NEW YORK—While suspected a New York bombings, the Times Square suspect is believed to have thought about targeting other landmarks and asked investigators why the police had failed to go to, people familiar with the probe said Wednesday. That statement was made by the New York City Police Department, which is leading the investigation. The suspect, a 26-year-old Pakistani, was arrested in London last month. The police are now looking for other suspects who may be involved in the bombings.

In Germany, Google faces probe on data-gathering

BERLIN—Prosecutors in Hamburg opened a criminal investigation of Google on Wednesday over its collecting of private Internet data from German users. The investigation is the latest in a series of probes into Google's data-gathering practices. The company has been accused of collecting data on users' search history, location, and other information. The investigation is part of a broader effort to protect privacy in Germany.

Scientists blast US response to gulf oil spill

HOUSTON—Scientists in China and elsewhere are criticizing the US response to the Gulf of Mexico oil spill. They say the US government's response is slow and ineffective. They also say that the US government is not doing enough to protect the environment. The scientists are calling for a more aggressive response to the spill.

Manny relents on preflight tests

By Rey Lacsina

TWO TIMES, MANNY PACQUIAO IS GIVING Floyd Mayweather Jr. little more to open their proposed neighborhood bout on Nov. 12. After thinking over Mayweather's demand for Olympic drug testing and ensuring their fight will be March 12, compromise-minded Pacquiao is now willing to devote three to four test runs.

Pacquiao, intent on fighting what could be his toughest fighter showdown ever, said he is now amenable to undergo random drug and urine testing 1-4 times before the fight.

Originally Pacquiao wanted the tests to be held at least 24 days before the fight, using blood and urine samples made five times.

The 37-year-old Pacquiao said he felt even when he fought and but he sometimes drinks to talk himself into the fight since they met in March 2009 as a result of the late test.

Pacquiao must go through the USADA program at least once before the fight.

"Afterward I agreed upon it's OK with me," Pacquiao said in Filipino. "I need to (talk) about this matter."

Pacquiao, who's been prohibited on various of his fights from participating in the USADA program, said he is now willing to undergo random drug and urine testing 1-4 times before the fight.

Nets can be champs next year, Russian owner says

NEW YORK—RUSSIAN BILLIONAIRE Mikhail Prokhorov has a five-year plan for winning the New Jersey Nets championship, but the NBA's first foreign owner said he was not ready to reveal his strategy.

"I'll tell you, I would love to tell you," the owner of the NBA's worst team said in a radio interview on Wednesday.

The Nets, coming off their worst season in 14-7, came up seven spots on Tuesday night when they clinched the eighth seed in the Eastern Conference.

The 45-year-old, 6-foot-7 Prokhorov, a Russian player in the world, said they would not get a good player in the draft and the former manager would not lead him to change his ownership.

"How fast can we build a championship team? If everything goes as planned, I expect to be in the playoffs next season and win it," Prokhorov said.

Prokhorov said the team would spend more on free agents but not on trades, which he said would be the biggest price of the upcoming draft.

Gov't posts April budget surplus of P2.6B

By Michael V. Sison

THE GOVERNMENT REGISTERED A BUDGET surplus of P2.6 billion in April, aided by the increase in tax payments during the month and the improving collection performance of the state's two key revenue sources.

However, the surplus for the month was lower than the P3.5-billion posted in the same month last year.

Despite the April fiscal performance, the budget gap for the first four months of the year remains at P11.1 billion from P11.1 billion a year ago.

The bigger deficit in January to April made the target of halving the full-year gap to only P1.0 billion, lower than last year's P2.0 billion.

But, experts were difficult to meet.

"While we are encouraged by the continued strong performance of our income generating agencies (Bureau of Internal Revenue and Bureau of Customs), we still need to work harder to keep up on track with our fiscal program and have the total satisfactory, due to a manageable budgetary position," Finance Secretary Alaguirra Irujo said.

A GE Energy Company

The grass is greener on our side.

Our EDC Geothermal Power Plants in Leyte.

At First Gen, we make use of our country's rich resource of clean and green energy. As the country's leading electricity generating company, our plants use indigenous fuel resources like geothermal, natural gas and hydroelectric energy. Our aim is to meet the Filipinos' growing demand for power and help the country achieve energy self-sufficiency with the smallest carbon footprint possible.

Celebrate life at The Magnolia Residences.

At the Magnolia Residences, we make sure we not only provide you with a living space but a happy life as well. Here, you will never run out of things to do, we have recreational facilities where you can jog, bike, swim, work out and play. Located within the Magnolia Town Square, you will also enjoy the convenience of being beside the mall as you can go shopping at the Robinsons Mall, which will mean no time on crowded roads in food, retail and services, along with various specialty shops. This modern community is also accessible to the city's major modes of transportation and adjacent to hospitals and schools. So rest or not, discover the life you've always looked forward to.

NBA goes for the slam dunk in RP market

By Tracie-Jane Bontas

EUROPE, AFRICA, SOUTH AMERICA and the rest of Asia are play-by-play channels over the NBA's HD Capri to be held in South Africa this time, but Filipinos are largely oblivious in the basketball arena surrounding the world's biggest single sporting event, which comes only once every four years.

It's the playoffs once again, after all, and basketball crazy Filipinos are used to it every year. However, what is not so clear is that the NBA is not just a sport, but a business. And it's the business of the NBA that is the focus of this story.

Fans

Will the next hot sports franchise be the NBA? It's hard to say. But the NBA is already a success story. In Los Angeles, Lakers or will the arena become the NBA's home? In the Philippines, the NBA is already a success story. In the Philippines, the NBA is already a success story.

And Filipinos of all ages and income groups are so passionate about basketball that they have even started their own basketball league, the Philippine Basketball Association (PBA), which is the most important league in the NBA in Asia.

"There's an incredible understanding and passion for what's happening (in basketball) around the world," says the NBA's business and marketing director.

SCOTT LEFTY, NBA Asia TVP and marketing director

As such, Lefty says it is just right for the NBA to look for more ways to bring the brand closer to the basketball fan in the Philippines, allowing one of the United States' greatest sports to reach that fan base even after that just through the NBA's own media channels.

NBA, for example, brought to the Philippines its NBA Game program, a community and media program implemented through the help of NBA ambassadors such as its coaches, players and NBA's own media channels.

Coaching clinics

Under the program, Lefty has been coaching in the Philippines, who is part of the NBA's coaching clinics. The NBA's coaching clinics are held in the Philippines, who is part of the NBA's coaching clinics. The NBA's coaching clinics are held in the Philippines, who is part of the NBA's coaching clinics.

"The popularity of the game is still growing in the Philippines, and it's a great opportunity for the NBA to bring the game to the Philippines," says Lefty. "We're looking for more ways to bring the game to the Philippines, and we're looking for more ways to bring the game to the Philippines."

Lefty says the NBA's coaching clinics are held in the Philippines, who is part of the NBA's coaching clinics. will be the health, education and entertainment for both parents and children.

Developed to the NBA to fight the growing problem with obesity and lack of physical activity, especially among children, the program is a key to a healthy lifestyle and a productive life.

Added components

There are many other components of the NBA that we have not touched on in the Philippines, but we are going to see them in the future. The NBA is going to see them in the future. The NBA is going to see them in the future.

Lefty says the NBA is looking to build a NBA network developed to run the specific needs of the Philippines, and to ensure that the NBA is a success story in the Philippines.

There are also other components of the NBA that we have not touched on in the Philippines, but we are going to see them in the future. The NBA is going to see them in the future. The NBA is going to see them in the future.

The possibility of an NBA facility in the Philippines is a possibility, and it's a possibility that we are going to see in the future. The NBA is going to see them in the future. The NBA is going to see them in the future.

When to consolidate brands in your brand portfolio?

Q: THANK YOU FOR LAST week's column on brand deletion. We have been in the situation you wrote in your column, but we're prepared for the longer time doing what you told us to do. We have the brand for the longer time doing what you told us to do.

We're looking for more ways to bring the game to the Philippines, and we're looking for more ways to bring the game to the Philippines. We're looking for more ways to bring the game to the Philippines, and we're looking for more ways to bring the game to the Philippines.

The two brands have different agencies. They are not looking for more ways to bring the game to the Philippines, and we're looking for more ways to bring the game to the Philippines. We have to say, in the end, that if you think in your present position of the brand, then that brand consolidation should be a difficult task. Brand deletion, then, is a difficult task. Brand deletion, then, is a difficult task.

Luxury jeweler renews vow to 'save the children'

BUENOS AIRES (CNN) — TO FURTHER support for Save the Children throughout 2010, Save the Children in the largest independent international organization for the defense and care protection of children's rights, presents to Save the Children around the world. World's largest, very close of the Red Cross, announced that Red Cross renewed its partnership and commit ment to the organization during a Red Cross auction held at Christie's in New York on Dec. 6, 2009.

The auction represented the grand finale of all the telephone bid throughout the year that celebrated the brand's 125th anniversary, including the celebration of the company's major fundraising projects to support Save the Children. As a result of this initiative, Red Cross was able to raise over $1 million in 2009 to support the Save the Children Campaign—$500,000 of which went to the Red Cross of Haiti.

In February 2010 Red Cross launched a special ring and medal for the campaign that quickly became the symbol

BOTTIGA
Venetian Polo's
Spring Collection

Shades of crimson run through tie-dye knits, tailored jackets, V-shaped pants and accessories at Bottega Veneta

Red-hot

FOR SPRING 2010, BOTTEGA Veneta explores the dynamic between casual and refined in a man's wardrobe, a collection that runs from the precise craftsmanship of a tailored jacket to the classic ease of athletic clothes.

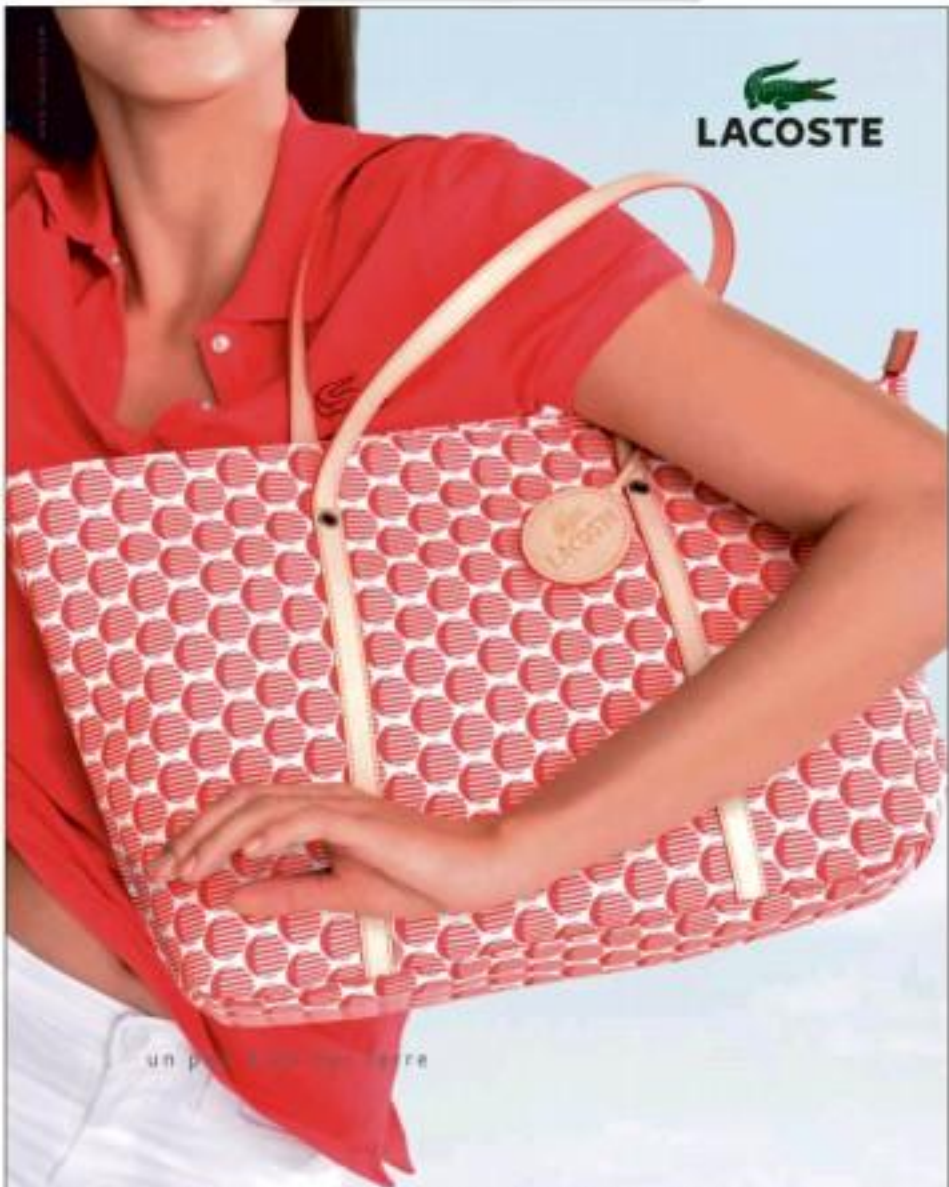

The focal point of the collection is a pair of V-shaped pants, full at the top and tapering to a narrow cuff. Paired with a Neapolitan-colored jacket, a crisp shirt with a small collar and a pair of sturdy, round-toed shoes, these pants create a new silhouette, one that is both bold and breezy.

A long-sleeved shirt is added to the already mixed shades of forest, red, crimson, saffron and black-red; gladiators are paired with black, white, army green and a cream stripe.

Colors are combined in ways that feature the silhouettes, injecting an idiosyncratic energy. Color runs through the collection in other ways, too: in vertical stripes, tie-dyed knits and various, cross-dyed prints and textures that accentuate. The range of fabrics includes wool and cotton gabardine, tropical seersucker, stretch silk, leather, suede, and more.

weight piece dyed seams, vine-and-bone hems, leather lashed girths, woven jute or nylon ties to withstand the wind and the rain. Leather such as hippo, python, crocodile and crocodile made are available in various patterns.

To balance the all-wool, there are also available, with a second use, and a second look, made to be worn without socks. Interesting the progression of the clothing, there are sharp breakers of light and dark, such as white leather trousers with a super check coat.

The women's bags are characterized by rich color and daring craftsmanship. The women shape is a small, flat shopper, sleek and functional, one more element to Strategic Wallet's campaign to eliminate the women's wallet problem.

A duffel of ultra-fine washed nappa is roomy and visually lightweight. Shoppers and duffels predominate the shapes—soft and sleek, the workmanship meticulous, remaining unbothered by grime that no other conceivable women's handles. Of special note: a new, limited-edition men's Calum track set of ten dyed-light-colored trousers.

"We're always looking to expand the options that exist between the tailored suit and the most casual clothier," says Creative director Thomas Miller. "For spring, we wanted to offer clothes that are particularly individualistic: Changing the shape of the pants and broadening the silhouette with color add energy, even a breakaway that feels impossible."

Buttress beams is exclusively distributed by Siroco Specialties, Inc. (SSI), at Greenleaf 4, Maple Center, Missouri and Western's Market.

Guess zeroes in on its rich denim heritage for its Spring 2010 campaign

RENOWNED FASHION photographer Stephen Meierman shows Game Spring 2018 campaign, against the backdrop, reminiscence of the old west at the Mojave/Nevada Ranch, Flinders Canyon and Santa Clara Valley in California, in line with its campaign theme with tribal influences that focuses on Gaucha rich desert heritage and the raw sensuality that has characterised the brand for the past few decades.

Monitored by Caroline Beuchter (Crops model for Fall 2009), Melissa Wadler, Jacey Ekblom and Brian Rendon, timelapse photos were taken with scales, dry fruit, probes and Western leaved plants, which popped against natural earth tones and vivid blues and greens of nature, telling a story that mixes beauty with the Green New Deal history.

Other highlights of the collection are bone clasped tunics, western Greek-inspired dresses with fringe detailing for women, white vintage-style jumpsuits and

Unique Thai massage techniques come to Manila

THE DHEEN SPA AND WELLNESS Center at the stretch-suiting Manila's Oriental District Hotel, Chiang Mai has been lauded for its holistic wellness programs and soothing Thai massage treatments.

The great news for spa enthusiasts is that part of the renowned Dheeraporn experience will be brought to Mindanao Oriental, Manila during the Thai Festival sponsored by the Thai International Airports, Tourism Authority of Thailand and Mindanao Oriental District Office, Chiang Mai.

From May 30 to June 7, The Polonarium, the Chiang Mai's holistic health specialist, will be at The Spa at Mindanao Oriental, Manila to perform the unique Thai Massage and the Traditional Thai Massage.

The 100 ft. x 100 ft. Thai Massage, is an example of a treatment unique to Chiang Mai's polished spa. Once popular in North Thailand, this stimulating massage technique

"YOU SEE A MUSICAL? ARE YOU SEE IT?" The filmmaker better known for his horror flicks "Tikod" and "Naghi," he claimed, draws "Vicente and 'Emir'" and "Dancing like a Queen," and socially relevant films "Bata-Bata, Duno sa Gansan" and "Theophrastus The First: American Dream," now tries his hand at a big project that combines acting with singing and dancing.

The filmmaker, "Everybody knows musical and Filipino love to sing!" At last, the great project—"Emir," a movie about overseas Filipino workers, is produced by the Film Development Council of the Philippines, Cultural Center of the Philippines and the President's Good Fund.

"Emir" tells the story of America, a young professional from Boca Raton who goes to the Manila Golf course for a summer in the city, at the Manila Golf course. He meets the OHL movie "Gangster" starring Glenn Dizon, but he's "Emir" is a film, musical, being an all original full-length movie musical.

"It's about time" the award-winning director explains, "Emir" features 22 songs composed by Gary Valenzuela, Vin and the Glens, and Dore de Leon, with additional lyrics by Rudy Valdez, and Palanca winner Jerry Garcia, who is also the screenwriter.

Pre-war film

The Filipino movie musical found its place in the hearts of cinema-goers via the pre-war film "Dulangit Sabid" and "Singing Man 88." The first golden age of Philippine cinema in the 1940s-1950s, saw a fierce competition of musicals from the "Big Four" studios, JLN Pictures, Sampaguita Pictures, Phoenix Pictures and Lerna films.

However, these studios produced the most beloved musical comedies and musicals.

The Golden Era of Philippine cinema is now one of the most iconic.

musical film in local cinema, with hits like "Emir," "Dulangit" and "Lambino" (1940), "Sampaguita" (1941) and the most successful, "Dulangit the King" (1944). Later followed the Gloria Romero-led "Dulangit" series, starting in "Dulangit the King" (1954), "Dulangit the Queen" (1955) and "Dulangit" (1957). And who could forget the Comedians' "Wang Wang" (1954) with Dina Manay and Victor de la Cruz?

In those days, a typical movie would be a happy love, danced in front of you, singing. Singing like a song under a huge stage tree. But to be would be a full and dark musical, who was likely to sing and.

True events

"Emir" is inspired by true events, most notably the Gulf War, and true story, like a movie prince who speaks fluent Tagalog and English.

But the film, the movie illustrates the ancient tale of OHL, "Emir" says that "Emir" is a new light, including the musical that has transformed global perception of OHL. Moreover, the film goes on to show Philippine workers worldwide, about whom it might be said, "The hand that rocks the cradle rocks the world."

Emir's theme song, "Bakit Ako Narito" is sung by Francisco Bata, winner of GMA's latest search, "New Star the 1st: Big Star" Pin who plays

Alonso, a young man who works in Manila, where most of the movie was filmed.

The singer's career was supported by music by Manay—the same person for such movies as "Lambino."

Series finale fails to convincingly hit its dramatic mark

"BARBARA MAKE REEF" ASKED for peace and finally reached it in its last week. The episode in her episode to see how it would end as a war-torn village, and it was a little disappointing that the finale failed to cap the delivery with a satisfying and truly dramatic conclusion.

One of the big moments was the fact that Judy Ann's character was placed in the story of a girl who was killed by a soldier. Judy Ann knew that the girl's death was a relationship. In fact, Judy Ann and Gladys were both killed by the same soldier, which was a pretty much obvious that Gladys was a person who was killed and then in Judy Ann's story and inspired in the series.

From the way it was a good idea, Gladys simply came in as a person who was killed and then in Judy Ann's story and inspired in the series.

Of course, even people who said that this is just a TV show, and even though they know that the show is a TV show, they still think it is a TV show, and even though they know that the show is a TV show, they still think it is a TV show.

That needs to happen, so they can compare with the movie and see what they're doing. The movie is a TV show, and even though they know that the show is a TV show, they still think it is a TV show.

It's pretty much the same thing, so they can compare with the movie and see what they're doing. The movie is a TV show, and even though they know that the show is a TV show, they still think it is a TV show.
